Compliments thick and fast come to this store from the thousands of visitors who touch Toronto during the summer months. You see them looking up and admiring the magnificence of the store. Their admiration heightens as they stroll through its seven floors and see for themselves the substantial and artistic character of the building in every detail. It means something that 3,000,000 pounds of steel were used in the construction of this store, and that it is built on foundation columns' that extend 17 feet below the sidewalk, set in great beds of concrete 112 feet square surrounded by pyramids, each column capable of carrying a load of 800,000 pounds. But the store not alone appeals to your best taste, but it touches your pocket in a peculiar fashion through the scores of bargains to be found in every department. This comes with its great buying powers and unsurpassed outlet for disposing of stocks.

Specials in Ladies' Undervests for Wednesday.

All prices in Undervests are down this week, for we are thinking of a reduction in the size of stocks before stock-taking inventory is made the end of the week.

Every day brings fresh confirmation of damage to the oat crop in the United States, which has been cut down 200,000,000 to 250,000,000 bushels from the carly estimates. The latter figure is an extravagant one, but there are parties in the trade who have good facilities for knowing the extent of the damage who have made that estimate. Too much rain made a heavy growth of straw. The storms lodged the crop badly, and the hot sun following the rain caused it to rust.

Both railways, it seems, have combined to keep up rates, and charge the same for the carrying of a boat as they do for a passenger.

The rowing clubs think that the rail-ways should get sufficient remuneration from the crowd who will attend the races to enable them to give cheaper rates to the men who take part and carry boats free.

"The only chance for a Yale man to win from them is to meet them under the same condition as they meet us—with a crew mostly of graduates.

"Let Ives, Hartwell, Bolton and a few of our old oarsmen come back and train with us, and we might try Henley. Next year we will have to fill our boat with new men, and it would be impossible for them to do better over there than we. Perhaps the over there than we. Perhaps the same crew going two or three years in succession might pull off a win."

Stroke Langford says it seems to him that a race with some first-class American University crew would be Yale's best policy.
